DECIDED AGAINST MR. LAMBERT.

A Decree Made in a Great Minnesota Land Case Involving $500,000.

St. Paul, August 26.—The great Lambert-Stees land case, involving $500,000 worth of real estate in the heart of St. Paul, which has been in the Minnesota Land couristor ten years, has been decided by the Supreme Court, which awarded for a young man about as found at 6:30 A. M. The piece of land involved is 350 acres along Lake Phalen. Tailmadge A. Lambert, who is defeated in the suit, is a young attorney of Washington city. The facts are unusual. In 1849 Andrew Bell Patterson, an Episcopal elergyman, came to St. son, an Episcopal elergyman, came to St. Paul with a number of land-warrants which he gave to David Lambert, a law-yer, to locate for him on Government lands, Lambert proceeded to locate the lands. Lambert proceeded to locate the warrants in his own name. Within a week thereafter he died. The administratrix of his estate, his mother, petitioned the Probate Court and attempted to convey the land to Patterson, and never claimed it as a part of the estate of David Lambert. About nineteen years ago the property came into the hands of Washington M. Stees, who lived on the land for more than nineteen years, when Tailmadge A. Lambert, a young Washington attorney, brought suit to recover the property, claiming that the probate proceedings were yold. The District Courtee held. claiming that the probate proceedings were void. The District Court so held, Stees appealed to the Supreme Court, which has now reversed the decision of the lower court and holds that the testimony is sufficient to treat Lambert as a trustee for Stees without considering the valuality of the probate proceedings and that Stees is entitled to the property. The decision is final.

A PRECOCIOUS BOY PREACHER.

charmeston, W. Va., August 26.—About four years ago the people of Carney, this county, were surprised by Everett Shaffner, a mere boy, declaring that he had been called by the Lord to preach the Gospel, and accordingly he applied to the A. C. Church for license to preach, and obtained them, and for a short time he was singularly successful and was admitted to the best society, but it was noticed after awhile that he was inclined to give too much attention to the young women at his protracted meetings. ries Again and Is to Be Prosecuted.

SHITED TURES GIRLS.

DESERTED HIS WIFE. For a time Shafiner's domestic happiness seemed perfect, but he soon saw his star was on the wane and awoke to find that he had aroused the indignation of his best friends, and, to make matters worse, he deserted his wife. For a while nothing was heard of him, but at last it was ascertained that he had gone to Mississippi and married again.

It seems as though the story of his career followed him, and the parents of the fair Creole who now passes as Mrs. Shaffner No. 2, concluded to send a detective to Carney to find out the facts in the case, which they have since done, and Mr. Shaffner will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

THE INJUNCTION MODIFIED In the Case of Certain Collateral Obtained

Savannah, Ga., secured preventing the Central National and the Merchants National Banks from disposing of the collateral which Abraham Backer obtained from them, but subsequently pledged on leans, has been modified by a decision of Judge O'Brien, of the Supreme Court, so that there should be no appropriation of the proceeds of their securities when sold to any indebtedness of Backer's, for which the same were pledged. This holds good until the other securities which were owned by Backer are applied to the payment of such indebtedness, and then if any surplus should arise the same is to be paid over to the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs' securities should be separated from such other collateral, and should only be sold upon notice to the plaintiffs.

WAS IN FIRE SPINITS.

The deceased was in excellent spirits during the morning, and about 11 o'clock spoke of going on a pic-me which was to have been given to-day by his brother, Mr. George J. Hooper, to the latter's Sunday-school class. Shortly after this he went into his room and, as was his habit, locked the door and laid down on the bed. Nothing more was seen of him during the forencon or until late in the afternoon, when one of his little boys tried to get in the room, but finding the door locked climbed in through the window and discovered his father lying dead.

His face, sunken in the pillow, was buried in his hands, which held the moistened handkerchief, while under the pillow was a two-ounce bottle of chloroform which had been haif empitted.

CAUSE OF DEATH.

An alarm was given and Mr. John R. Hooper, one of his brothers, who is keeper of Hollywood cemetery, was sent for.
Later on Coroner Taylor was summoned, and after acquainting himself with the circumstances of Hooper's death he arrived at the conclusion that he was accidentally poisoned by the chloroform while doubtless in a condition particularly susceptible to CAUSE OF DEATH. there was no cause, so far as is known, for

A novel examination was gone into be-

A novel examination was gone into before Justice J. T. Lewis at the county court house yesterday. The case was that against Conductors Thomas A. Goodman and L. C. Schweiezert, of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, who were arrested yesterday morning on warrants charging them with feloniously assaulting and beating Charles Lewis (colored) and kicking him off Train No. 10, Chesapeake and Ohio railway, with intent to kill him.

The occurrence took place between the Five-Mile Lock and the Philadelphia Quarry on Sanday evening, and according to the evidence happened on the regular passenger train from Clifton Forge.

Two witnesses were produced by Mr. Conway R. Sanda, the Commonwealth's attorney. These were Nias Thornton and William White (both colored). They testified that both the conductors on the train, neither of whom they could swear was either of the prisoners, assaulted Lewis and beat him with something in their hands, which looked like pistols, until he retreated to the platform. The witnesses testified that here the conductors kicked the negro from the train.

CAPTAIN GOODMAN'S STATEMENI.

Captain Goodinan, who lives at 301 wes Carptain Goodinan, who lives at 301 west.
Cary street, and is considered in every way a very peaceable and kind-hearted gentleman, was placed upon the stand. He testified that he went to Lewis for his ticket and was told by the latter that he had given it to the other conductor. Ho then asked Captain Schweickert if he had taken up the ticket of the negro and was up the ticket of the negro and was ned that he had not. Conductor Goodman then returned to Lewis and de-manded his fare, which was very reluc-tantly given. As the railroad official turn-ed to walk away the negro began cursing and Captain Goodman returned and told him that he would have to stop that, as there were a number of ladies in the car. Lewis became trate and used more pro-famity. The conductor then remarked: "I'll put you under arrest and turn you over to the police when I reach Rich-mond." n then returned to Lewis and de over to the police when I reach Richmond."

He then reached for the negro, who retreated, dealing to the officer four blows from his umbrella while he was passing to the front platform of the car. Captain Goodman testified that he never struck the man, and that he did not get as far as the door; that he only drew his revolver when another negro caught him in the collar as if to interfere.

A CORRODARIVE STATEMENT.

The statement of Conductor Schweicker practically substantiated that of Captain Goodman. He stated that neither the latter gentleman nor himself followed the negro to the platform, and that just before the turmoi subsided he heard several persons in the car cry out: "He has jumped off."

The defendants were represented by Mr. H. T. Wickham, who served as their bonds.

The defendants were represented by Mr.
H. T. Wickham, who served as their bondsman in the sum of $1,000 that they supear before Justice Lewis at the county courthouse Thursday, September 3d.
The condition of the injured negro is such that he will hardly be out of bed for several days. His face and head are badly bruised and lacerated and his knees severely skinned.

WANTS THE NAMES OF PASSENGERS. Captain Goodman, in speaking to a Disparch reporter yesterday, said if he only knew the names of one or two gentlemen who occupied seats in the car he would have no trouble in proving that neither he nor Conductor Schweickert had their hands upon Lewis, and that they did not follow him to the door of the car. The Captain is especially anxious to find the gentleman who held his lantern after the trouble began. He also refers to two white ladies who, he thinks, would make good witnesses if he only knew who they were.

Opening Night at the Theatre.

The regular season at the brightly illumined and pretty new Richmond Theatre opened last night with Edgar Smith's musical comedy "U and I," the piece being presented by George W. Lederer's company with Tim Cronin and Harry Standish in the leading roles. There was quite a good audionce, and the performance was enjoyed, though the company is not so good as others that have been seen here in the piece. A handsomely gotten up sourcein programme, containing the opening announcement of the managers and a list of the leading attractions booked for the season was presented to each lady present. "U and I" will be repeated to night. "Keep It Dark" will be presented Friday night. The sale of scats begins to-day.

Compliment to Edwin Hoff.

The New York Dramatic News prints a splendid portrait of Mr. Edwin W. Hoff, formerly of this city, and in its personal column says: "Mr. Hoff will be heard in New York shortly in the production of Robin Hood at the Standard Theatre. This is by no means his first appearance here, however. In the best days of the McCaull Opera Company he was a strong metropolitan favorite, and those who have heard him in Robin Hood declare that he will undoubtedly increase his hold on the public when that opera is presented here."

Arrested for Stealing a Horse.

A negro named George Timberlake was arrested yesterday by the police of the Third district on the charge of stealing a horse. Timberlake went to the stable of Mr. Cosby, on Fifth street, and told him that Mr. Jeter, who kept his horse there, had sent him after the animal. Mr. Cosby delivered the horse to the negro, who took it out on the Brook road and tried to sell it to a man. As Timberlake's actions were suspicious the kan arrested him and brought him to Richmond and turned him over to Officer Angle.

AN EXCITING LIQUOR CONTEST AT LEWISHAM, IN KENTSHIRE.

Broken Up-Flags, Banners, and

LONDON, August 26. - The borough of Lewisham, Kent, is in a great state of excitement to-day. Lewisham is electing a member of Parliament to succeed Viscount Lewisham, who has been elevated to the eerage upon the death of his father, the Earl of Dartmouth. Large crowds surment prevails everywhere. The campaign has been marked by most unusual lawiess ness. Political meetings have been frequently invaded by the opposing factions. There have been several desperate scrimages between members of the two leading parties. The issue will be decided upon the liquor question alone.

THE CANDIDATES.

The two candidates in the field are Mr. The two candidates in the field are Mr.
John Fenn (Conservative), a descendant of William Pean, and a member of the well-known firm of John Penn & Sons, marine engineers, of Greenwich, and Mr.
George Septimus Warmington (Liberal), president of the Lewisham and Lee Liberal Club. The publicans are strongly supporting the Conservative candidate, and the teetotalers and others of a similar way of thinking are upholding the Liberal nominee. A LIBERAL MEETING.

One of the most interesting events of this campaign occurred on Monday last. Sir Wilfred Lawson (Radical), member of Parliament for the Cockermouth division of Cumberland, and President of the United Kingdom Alliance for the supression of the Isquor traffic, who has introduced a number of bifls on the licensing question, was presiding at a meeting held in support of the Liberal candidate, Mr. Warmington. Suddenly the "Isquor faction" or Conservatives, made a reconnoisance in force upon the hall of the Liberals, and created a tremendous disturbance which eventually developed into a hot fixtight.

The Liberals were too much for the Conservatives. The latter were knocked kicked, and jostled out of the hall, and the "teetotalers" were masters of the situation and of the field, but to their dismay the Liberals, upon attempting to resume their badly-interrupted meeting, jound that Sir Wilfred Lawson, the great prophet of temperance, had been frightened by the onslaught of the Conservative skirmshers and had made good his escape from the hall and could not afterwards be found. Last might active hostilities between Liberals and Conservatives was resumed. The rooms occupied by both the Liberals and the Conservative committees were attacked by the rival factions.

were attacked by the rival factions.

Two desperately-fought engagements followed and both sides were victorious. The Conservative mob captured and destroyed the Liberal flags, banners and posters, bills and dodgers, stored at Mr. Warmington's headquarters. On the other hand the Liberals did the same with the Conservative flags and printing. Taken altogether the Lewisham campaign and election have probably been the most exciting events which have happened in England for many years past.

TWO NAMES FOR SENATORIAL HONORS.

It is understood that Chesterfield county will present only two names for senatorial honors at the convention which meets in this city on the 5th of next month. These gentlemen are Mr. George H. Jewett and Mr. F. C. D. Farmer. The latter gentleman yesterday received a lengthly-signed petition asking him to submit his name to the convention, and Mr. Farmer has signified that he has no objection to his name being used in connection with the office. Both of these gentlemen are energetic Democratic workers and both have strong following.

ASSESSMENT OF CHESTERFIELD LAND.

ASSESSMENT OF CHESTERFIELD LAND.

The total assessment of land for 1890 in the First district in Chesterfield was $1,632,125.80. In 1891 the land-books show the total to be $2,731,114.59. This makes the increase $368,883.79. The increase on the personal property book this year over the year 1890 is $43,755.42.

The First district in Chesterfield includes the suburbs of Manchester, and the above figures show that the district has grown wonderfully during the past year.

Business of to-day and yesterday was more widely distributed than that of any day for the last year, the number of stocks dealt in reaching about 125. Another encouraging sign for the market is the comparative insignificance of the dealings in the unlisted department. The incubus of the manipulation of these properties being removed from the market gives legitimate securities a chance to reach their proper removed from the market pives legitimate securities a chance to reach their proper level. The effects of the frosts in the West were not of material consequence, and the declines in prices went no further than fractions, although a few stocks here and there yielded reachly because of special pressure or other circumstances. Among these Lake Shore was prominent with a drop of 1½ per cent., but a large portion of this loss was afterward regained.

INDUSTRIALS ACTIVE.

The industrials were more active. Sugar was strong on the reported deal with the opposition refineries; lead because of the lack of opposition to the reorganization scheme at the meeting, and cordage continued its reaction from its late depression. The Grangers, Louisville, the Villards, and the Vanderbilts, all of which have of late made sharp advances, were pressed for sale, but all stood the pressure well and yielded only fractionally with the one exception named. The Chesapeake and Ohio stocks were again prominent for both activity and strength, aided by the rumors of new combinations in which the company is to becefit largely. There were frequent changes of temper during the day, but the general drift was downward, though the opening was strong, and the market finally closed only fairly active and heavy to weak, with many stocks at the lowest of the day. The final changes are generally small fractional losses, but the only important decline is 1% per cent. in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis, while Lead Trust is up 1%, and cordage 1 per cent.
